Wogan in Tom Gould's basement dive at avenue last Christmas morning, began before Judge Fitzgerald, in Part 11, of the Court of General Sessions.

Tom Gould was one of the earliest arrivals in the court-room this morning. Several women with painted cheeks were seated in the space reserved for their sex, and seemed greatly interested in the proceedings.

Selling, who was exonerated by the Coroner's jury, and was admitted to ball in $7,000 by Judge Cowing because of the belief that his story of self-defense was true, was consigned to the Tombs at the close or court yesterday afternoon, He was red-cycd when he was brought into Backers of Glee Boy Wos About $60,000 at Gloucester Yesterday.

TRACK SALARIES CUT.

Mud Horses a Good Thing to Let Alone for a Few Days-Racing Gossip.

The visitors at Guttenburg yesterday who stood by the foreign books and heard Operator Fitzpatrick call out " Glee Boy in the stretch by a length " little knew that this borse had been plunged on all over the sountry to win a fortune. When "Fitz" said "Glee Boy wins" there were of whistles amazement and surprised ejaculation of "Who in thun-der is Glee Boy?" At the Roby (Ind.) track e crowd was wild with joy. The owner of Glee Boy was a Western man and they all had the tip on the good thing. There the horse opened at 30 to 1 and was pounded down to even money, notwithstand ing track quotations were posted as being 10 to I against the horse. When Gice Boy was announced as the winner a wild Western whoop rent the air, and the bookles' cashler were an hour paying off the bets. It is sai that $10,000 was won at this track slone. The plunge was so tremendous that the Roby officials telegraphed to President Thompson asking it Glee Boy was not a

The small price which Stamboul brought was a surprise to horsemen throughout the country. It is probable that the stories published throwing doubts on Stamboul's record had much to do with depressing the price. Nevertheless there is plenty or evidence to show that Stamboul did trut a mile in 2.07%, and that he can repeat this performance there is little doubt. The protests raised by the trotting associations should not have affected the stallion's real value one dollar.
